During the designated period WLFJ-FM engaged in the following recruitment activities:

On-going Internship Program for area college students:

Students must be enrolled in a broadcast program, and their internship must be endorsed, supported and monitored by the sponsoring university, including, but not limited to, North Greenville University.

Junior Job Shadow Days:

WLFJ-FM participates in numerous Junior High and High School shadowing programs throughout the year, where students who are interested in broadcasting shadow an announcer for the day. They sit with them during their air shift and participate in production duties. During this designated report period WLFJ-FM has participated in yearly North Greenville University and South Carolina Broadcasters Association Job Fairs, the most recent being April 4, 2015. Thirty employment applications were processed from this job fair. The employee participating in this WLFJ-FM provides facility tours for local families, elementary school, high school, and home school student interested in broadcasting. WLFJ-FM also offers tours for local Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Girl Scout Troops so that they might earn their communication badges
